

Ecstasy & Dust

Many young people are willing to take chances on using drugs like marijuana, cocaine, Ecstasy and Dust because they believe that nothing serious can happen to them or their friends. But data collected in our area, much like research elsewhere, show that use of new drugs like Ecstasy and Dust can lead to bad experiences, such as drug selling, police harassment, jail and interrupted lives, pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases. Chances are good that the more drugs used, the more often they are used, and the more they are sold, the worse the consequences.
